

Let your child experience a whole new world

There is no question that now is the time to get your kids into golf. With school and contact sports off the cards for the rest of this year, why wouldn't you use this opportunity to get them into the game?

We have a thriving Junior section, and your children will be looked after by Elsabe Hefer and Justin Godfrey, our two Teaching Professionals. Your children will get to meet and play with other young golfers in a safe and positive, outdoor environment.

"In golf, the customs and etiquette and decorum are as important as the rules of play."

No more three-putts.
How often do you hit the centre?

On putts over 20 feet, regular golfers don't strike the putter face at a consistent spot. Some strikes will be towards the toe and some will be nearer the heel. Many golfers overestimate how often they middle it. Here's a quick and easy way to see for yourself.

The impact challenge

Stick a strip of impact tape (duct tape also works) to your putter's face. Take ten putts from 25 feet. How many of the putts hit the toe or the heel? If it's more than four, chances are you're struggling on the greens.

Eliminate three-putts

By assessing your putter shaft length, lie angle and swing arc, we can make it a lot easier for you to centre more putts, more often. If you want to be able to consistently get it close from distance, let's schedule a session on the putting green. In the meantime, we can give you some drills to do at home.

Go the distance.

What is your smash factor?

Hitting long shots requires a high energy transfer from golfer to club to ball. Smash factor is a measure of this energy transfer.

Do you know what your smash factor is?

Many golfers are at about 1.3. Getting to 1.35 requires small changes, but adds up to 10 metres to your tee shots.

All the distance you can
