News from the course

The work on the Course is starting to show it's colours

The rain over the last little while has really helped with the work that we did at the 12th green and 16th fairway. Very soon, these should be fully covered.

You can help us keep the greens in shape

Last week we put in this poster about repairing your pitch marks, but it is so important, that we will be putting in every week for a while, in the hope that you will read it, take action and help us with this vital, yet simple process.

It's so easy to walk up onto a green and repair your own plus two or three other pitch marks while you wait your turn to putt, and it can make the world of difference to our greens. We hope we can rely on you to help us!

Did you know?

A fresh ball mark repaired by a player takes only

FIVE SECONDS

A freshly repaired ball mark will completely heal in

TWENTY FOUR HOURS

FIFTEEN DAYS

before the ugly scar has satisfactorily healed

Shorten your long game

You're up to the challenge

When you look at the shaft length and clubhead loft on your fairway wood, it's no wonder this is a tough club to strike off the deck. But that doesn't mean it can't be an effective club for you. How good is your ball striking with your fairway woods? What launch and trajectory are you getting?

We can help you hit better fairway shots and transform your approach to the green.

Master your fairways

In the meantime, here are three aspects of fairway wood performance for you to consider:

Swing easier. Hit through the ball and not at the ball. Try it on the range and see how far you hit it.

How much loft do you need? If your longest fairway is under 18° and you don't use it off the tee, why is it in your bag?

Angle of attack and weight transfer are especially important when it comes to striking fairway woods well. Spend some time with us and let's see how much of an improvement we can make.

Practice with purpose

Get comfortable with the uncomfortable

Simulating uncomfortable situations during practice makes it easier to respond positively – both mentally and physically – when you're faced with the same challenges on course.

Have you practised plugged bunker lies?

Or hitting iron shots off sloping lies?

Which part of your game most needs improving and will have the biggest impact on your enjoyment and scorecard?

| We're here to help you.

Let's talk practice

Worried about that fairway bunker or hazard? Thinking of laying up instead? Stop worrying and hesitating. With the added and easy distance in the new Cleveland Launcher XL Driver, you'll have the confidence to go big.
