Exciting golf shop developments

We have great news in that we are upgrading and upsizing the golf shop. We will be moving into Otway's in the middle of April.

We have some exciting things planned for the new shop including a putting green, so you can test out our putters, and in a couple of months we'll even offer a hitting bay so you can try out clubs right there in the shop.

We'll keep you posted on these plans...

But, don't forget that we also have our

Masters Promotion

Between now and the start of The Masters (7th April) you should make all of your big golf purchases at Zwartkop because we are offering you a MONEY-BACK PROMISE when Louis Oosthuizen wins The Masters...

You have nothing to lose... buy what you need and if Louis wins we will give you your money back in Golf Shop credit, on any purchases over R1000 between now the start of The Masters.

Where is your biggest opportunity?

When setting you up for improved distance and accuracy, we'll look at aspects like: a shaft length and flex that makes it easier for you to square the face at impact; a club weight that improves your swing tempo; and a larger hitting zone that makes it easier to generate higher ball speeds.

Add 24%

The right rotation

When you do strength training, your muscles get stronger, and you can add up to 24% to your clubhead speed, according to the British Journal of Sports Medicine. Remember, smaller muscles often get neglected, making them even weaker and highly susceptible to injury.

The rotator cuff is a classic example. If you don't do exercises that are designed to strengthen your rotator cuff specifically, you'll be at higher risk for injury and your game will suffer. Make sure you're looking after all your muscles for a strong, steady swing.

Rotate your cuff correctly

With the right rotator-cuff exercises you can avoid injury and strengthen your swing. Even better, if you commit to 8 weeks of consistent strength training, you can add up to 24% on your clubhead speed.

If you engage in these exercises, you agree that you do so at your own risk and assume all risk of injury to yourself.
