Scariest shots in golf

What scares you most?

An approach over the water. A sharp-breaking downhill putt. A deep greenside bunker. Thick rough. Shots like this don't have to fill you with dread. With the right skills, they could be exciting opportunities!

One of the best ways to reduce the fear-factor of tricky shots is to be prepared. There are two aspects to this preparation:

1. Identify your skills gaps

We'll run through all the shots you play from tee to green (including the tricky ones) and identify any weak points around which we'll structure your improvement plan.

2. Practice

Create situations during your practice sessions that challenge your weak points and practise them until you're comfortable and confident.

Turn tricky shots into a treat

If you're looking for a soft, low-compression golf ball with incredible feel that doesn't hold you back off the tee, your search ends with the new Srixon UltiSoft. The latest FastLayer Core means great feel that also goes the distance.

Fine margins matter

Adding 10 metres to your drive could be the difference between carrying that fairway bunker or being plugged in the sand. By increasing your smash factor (a measure of energy transfer from the clubhead to the golf ball) by just 0.05, we could add up to 10 metres to your drives.

Let's take you further

By setting your driver up to match your attack angle and swing plane, we can ensure you enjoy more consistent impact, better launch and a smash factor closer to the ideal of 1.50.
