The Last Man Standing

On Saturday, 3rd December we will be playing a very different competition format which we hope you will embrace.

The competition is called THE LAST MAN STANDING.

It will actually be two competitions in one – the normal Monthly Medal and The Last Man Standing.

For The Last Man Standing, you will have to do the following:

- Add your handicap to the Par of the Course, which is 71. Let's assume your handicap is 14, therefore $71 + 14 = 85$.
- You keep playing until you've hit your 85th shot. Wherever your ball ends up after 85 shots, you put a flag down to mark the spot. Flags will be supplied to each four-ball.
- Whoever gets the furthest around the golf course is the winner.
- If you go past the 18th hole you still keep playing until you have hit your 85th shot.
- Full Handicaps will be used.
- We will have a one-tee start that Saturday.

The winner will win a pair of Duca del Cosma Golf Shoes valued at R 2 999.

Stars of the week

Congratulations to Christopher and Francois Anderson, who have won the Men's Betterball Championship. They beat Chris Willemse and Pieter Beukes in the final.

They, along with Ina Rouse and Karen Graaf, will get to represent Zwartkop in the GNGU Betterball Challenge at Blair Atholl on 20 November. We wish them all the best of luck!

Congrats to Big Red, Kyle Zeeman who had a hole-in-one on the 3rd hole during a 9-hole round of golf on Monday.

Let us help you play better golf...

October is Halloween, so this month we have asked Adam Lowther to help you out with what might be considered to be the scariest golf shots.

This week he shows you how to play the ball when it is lying between the first cut of the green's fringe, and the second cut of rough.

Adam Lowther is an Assistant Teaching Professional at Zwartkop.

Scariest shots in golf

Green gremlins

When you think of golf's scariest shots, what usually comes to mind is the drive on a tight fairway, the approach over a water hazard, the deep greenside bunker and the fairway wood off the deck. But there aren't any gremlins lying in wait on the green, right?... Well, what about a lightning-fast, downhill, sharp-breaking 4-footer to save par?

Effective downhill putting has a lot to do with feel and pacing.

You want to keep aspects like impact point and stroke consistent, while altering the speed you impart to the ball.

Putts like this are a challenge for golfers across the skills spectrum, but the more you practise, the better your feel and pace will get.

You might have great feel and accurate speed- and line-reading skills, but if your stroke is inconsistent, or your putter setup is wrong, you're not going to hole as many putts as you should. Let's spend some time on the practice green to make sure you're set up for success.
