Stars of the Week

Congrats to Adam Lowther

Adam Lowther has passed his PGA Teaching Aptitude Test with flying colours. That's the last step in his journey to full PGA Professional Qualification status. Well done, Adam.

Adam led two junior events over the last week. On Friday he ran a Mystery Competition which was won by Ethan Pretorius on 51 pts.

On Monday he ran an Advanced Junior Clinic:

We took a deeper look at the golf game as a whole. The students got to do a TPI screening with Justin Godfrey where they identified any weak points in their bodies which may limit them in the golf swing.

We then went to the driving range and spent some time on the FlightScope, where we looked at the distances they hit their different clubs to try and get them as accurate as possible.

We were able to make some swing changes based on what we saw in the numbers from the FlightScope and the students saw an instant improvement when we went out onto the golf course in the afternoon to play.

We will catch up with them in a couple of months to see if they are still improving. Overall, the clinic was a success and we hope to see more of you out there next time.

More than a game

Perennial pastime

No matter the season of life, golf's a gift of never-ending joy and fulfillment. Golf is a game for young and old alike. Playing different tees means that whether they're 8- or 68-years-old, there's a place for your loved one on the fairways.

All are welcome

Maybe you're eager to give your child their start in the game or are an adult wanting to spend more time with a retired parent. Whatever it is, fairways and practice greens shared with loved ones are wonderful places to be! Bring your family and friends to the course for an experience that gives them a new passion and you a new playing partner.
