R&A Rules Guide

The R&A has released a Quick Guide video on the 2023 Rules Changes. The video assumes that the viewer has very little knowledge of the game and of the rules, so while the main target audience is the player transitioning from being a learner golfer to someone who is planning to gain a handicap, you might find it helpful too. Check it out here:

Just a reminder that you can download the R&A App here:

Speaking of R&A – did you see the exciting competition they launched with GolfRSA called The Race to The R&A 9-Hole Challenge at Royal Liverpool?

It's a chance for two South African golfers to tee it up at this year's Open Championship venue on the week before the oldest Championship in golf takes place at Royal Liverpool.

To be eligible to win this prize in 2023, all you have to do is play 9 holes of golf three times during April – that's easy to record at Zwartkop! If you do that, you will qualify to go into the draw where two people will win this unbelievable prize, which includes tickets for two practice days and two championship days of The Open, airfare, hotel accommodation subsidy, green fees and a subsistence allowance!

Next year the qualification will change to a series of qualifying events, so cash in on this lucky draw while you can. You can click here for more details:

Trust your irons

Before you can let the club do the work

We want you to hit better golf shots with every iron in your bag. Besides the design of the head, the next most important aspect is your lie angle. When your lie angle matches your swing, it becomes a lot easier to trust your irons to deliver predictable ball flight.

Find your lie angle

If you're struggling with hooked iron shots, your lie angle could be too upright.

If you're pushing most of your iron shots, there's a good chance your lie angle is too flat.

Many brands try and solve the problems they think each golfer might have at different handicap levels by creating off-the-shelf irons with a specific lie angle. But that might not be right for you.

Let's make iron play fun

Once we've set your irons up for your physical stature, swing type and playing preferences, your iron play will be more effective and more fun! Let's build your trust in irons.

Par 3 Power Play

Be the right club

Club selection can be the difference between hitting the green to set up a birdie chance and missing the green to set up a tough up and down. Let's make sure you turn more par 3s into scoring opportunities!

Stay out of trouble

Stand on the tee and check where the trouble is. Is there sand or water short or long of your intended target? Club-up or club-down accordingly to keep your birdie bid alive.

You can only make smart club selections if you know your average distance with each club, not just the distance of shots you hit perfectly.

Know your numbers

Let's get on the range and let's dial in those yardages so you can experience more magic par-3 momen
