Our opening weekend went off very well – it was incredibly festive and so great to see people using everything. We are looking forward to entertaining more and more people at our new facilities – here’s a look at the opening evening.

And we received this video from Brett Hutton who represents Trackman here in South Africa:

Brett was a huge support on the range all weekend – thank you!

The Boks have made the semi-finals!

What a game on Sunday night – it was nail-biting but The Boks have secured their place in Saturday's semi-final and we will have the big screen ready to show you the action on both Friday and Saturday night. The games begin at 21h00.

Shafts are worth their weight in gold

Finding the correctly weighted shaft for your swing will take you one step closer to unlocking the ball-striking consistency that'll help you level up!

Light affects your flight

Shaft weight is a balancing act. You want shafts that optimise your clubhead speed but, more importantly, allow you to maintain sound swing mechanics that keep your shots on their intended line.

Do you struggle with shots that flare out right? Your shaft may be too light, causing you to release your wrists a little too soon in the downswing and contact the ball with an open clubface.

With weight comes stability

A shaft that's slightly heavier may help you maintain a sound swing path and improve the quality of your strikes significantly.

The club path value you generate on a launch monitor is a great starting point to figuring out the adjustments we need to make to your shaft weight. If your club path value is positive, your ball is starting right of target in which case a heavier shaft may straighten out your strikes.

The opposite may also be true but we'll test a couple of different options and find the shaft weight that balances your ball-striking scales!

The game of a lifetime

Safe, healthy, happy children

When you introduce your child to golf, you're not only giving them the chance to learn a new skill. You're introducing them to a healthy, social and safe outdoor activity that they can enjoy for the rest of their life. You're also giving yourself years of quality time on the fairways with your child. What more could you want?

We'll guide your child every step of the way. From free play and movement ABCs, to social group practice and coaching, to specialization and the competitive edge. And we do this all in a fun, social environment.

Between 6 and 12 years old, it's important to develop a child's movement ABCs: Agility, Balance, Coordination and Speed.

When teaching children golf skills, we also want to make sure they're playing a variety of other sports as well.

Get your children into golf

We want your child to have positive experiences and to fall in love with the game. If you have a child or grandchild, let's get them started on the journey of a lifetime.
