The right equipment helps

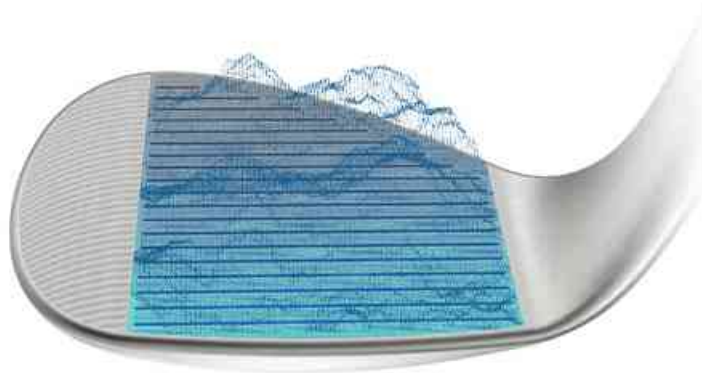

Sink your teeth into a better wedge game

What do you need to have a better short-game? Playability (equipment that helps you play a variety of shots) or consistency (equipment that helps you hit the same shot better).

If it's consistency you want ("No more chunking") then the Cleveland CBX ZipCore Wedge might be the right selection for you.

If you want more shot making options, you'll need to find wedges with soles and grinds that work with your game. The Cleveland RTX6 Zipcore Wedges offer you multiple grinds and bounce options across 8 loft options.

HydraZip technology features a dynamic blast and laser-milled line system designed to maximise spin in wet or dry conditions, and from anywhere around the green.

| Let's set you up to gain shots

A better short-game means lower scores. Let us find the short-game setup to save you shots from 70 metres in.

Recover a golfer

A common problem that's easily fixed

Many former golfers left the game because they found it too challenging. And one of the most common challenges is losing the ball right (left for left-handers) off the tee. It doesn't have to be that way.

The latest fitted equipment together with some coaching can remove the stubborn push and slice from the game. It also makes hitting better golf shots easier. Send us a golfer, especially an ex-golfer, and we'll prove it.

Let's help a friend

If you know anyone you think should get back into golf, bring them down, send them to us, or give us their details and we'll reach out personally to reintroduce them to the game.
