Make a Christmas wish...

Imagine the perfect set of gifts under your Christmas tree this year: solid square contact, sinking more putts, or hitting it further off the tee! Let us know which gift you would like to unwrap this Christmas, and remember, we can help you make your wish a reality.

I wish for...

Their golf ball

Fill a stocking

Spread good cheer this holiday. Invest in friendship. Think of someone you wish you'd found a bit more time for this year and invite them out for a round of golf.

Help make them laugh. Help them breathe in the outdoors. Create motion and movement.

Above all create CONNECTION.

Connection is probably the most underrated joy of golf. It is so important to well-being at a time of the year when people reflect on their year. Creating connection fills a stocking with joy.

As a second best, add a sleeve of golf balls to someone's stocking with a positive message encouraging them to join you in a game of golf in 2024 or a thanks for the contribution they've made to your golfing life in 2023.

Can we help?

How can we help make this the best golfing holiday season for you?

Let us know how we can help

Duca Del Cosma: Find your perfect pair

Book a shoe fitting

More than a fitting

More greens in regulation

We could tell you that you should have a fitting. But that's not where the conversation should start. If we're talking approach shots, the conversation starts with you:

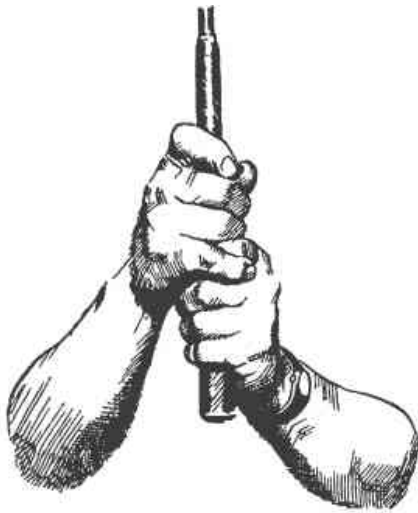

Are you making consistently solid contact with the ball?

Do you get enough distance and height on your iron shots?

Are you missing the target and, if so, left or right or both sides?

Now we're probably into diagnosis. What is holding your game back? What could give you the biggest benefit?

You'd be amazed by the impact on your consistency and accuracy caused by an incorrect grip size and/or lie angle in your irons.

Grip size too small and the hands become too active with an inclination to close the face at impact. Too large and it's harder to square the face at impact with the face left open.

The lie angle needs to allow the sole to be parallel to the turf at impact. If it isn't and the heel strikes the turf first, the face closes and you miss left. If the toe strikes first, you miss to the right.

The gift we can give you

We want to change your experience out on the golf course, approach shot after approach shot. It's what we're trained to do. Cameras and technology make it easier than ever for us to diagnose the challenge. From there, the right fitting to create a better approach shot is only a short step away. And that means more greens in regulation.
